Questions for Journal and/or Reflection Paper Explorations

Francis Weller, author of The Wild Edge of Sorrow, provides us with a rich selection of simple writing prompts by which to explore our relationship with grief. Choose 1-2 of the below prompts to play with this month (feel free to write to more if you are so moved!) You may even consider creating a separate journal that is dedicated to an ongoing writing practice around these various prompts. As we've done with other writing exercises, the goal is to write the prompt and then spend 5 to 10 minutes with pen to paper, letting your stream of consciousness direct what is shared. Enjoy the revelatory nature of such a practice!
